his/her intellectual qualities but also social traits and his/her interest in current affairs. Some of the qualities to be judged are mental alertness, critical powers of assimilation, clear and logical exposition, balance of judgment, variety and depth of interest, ability for social cohesion and leadership, intellectual and moral integrity.

The technique of the interview is not that of a strict cross-examination but of a natural, though directed and purposive conversation which is intended to reveal the mental qualities of the candidate.

The interview test is not intended to be a test either of the specialized or general knowledge of the candidates which has been already tested through their written papers. Candidates are expected to have taken an intelligent interest not only in their special subjects of academic study but also in the events which are happening around them both within and outside their own state or country as well as in modern currents of thought and in new discoveries which should rouse the curiosity of well educated youth.

Attempts: A general category candidate is allowed to appear for Civil Service Examination four times (now 6 times the details will follow in the notification, while candidates belonging to reserved categories get higher number of attempts.

Methodology: Those who are to appear for the Civil Services Examination have to keep in mind that every answer should have a good beginning and a definite conclusion. They should avoid making sweeping generalizations. All the important points should be highlighted in their answers. Brief and relevant answers help to fetch good marks. Answers should be presented with flow charts, diagrams and pie charts which are bound to impress the examiners. The last two months before the examinations should be devoted to revision only. Students are advised to practice a number of times solving mock papers and cautioned against touching upon new topics. Any attempt at expanding one's knowledge base in the run-up to the Mains may have a negative effect. The candidates are also advised to avoid reading unnecessary things, as what not to read is as necessary as what to read during the limited time for preparation. By avoiding unnecessary topics, one can save a lot of time and concentrate more on main issues. All answers should be written in legible and easy-to-read handwriting,. The number of vacancies to be filled on the result of the examination is expected to be approximately 1450. which may vary

- Reservation will be made for candidates belonging to Scheduled Castes. Scheduled Tribes, Other Backward Classes and Physically Disabled Categories in respect of vacancies as may be fixed by the Government.
