Number of beneficiaries : 57 Type of activity :Curricular/Cocurricular/ Extracurricular/

Extension /NSS/NCC/College committee activity /Departmental activity/CSR/ FDP/Webinar.

Details of the Programme :

Goals and objectives :

- 1) To organize a system of organ and Tissue procurement & distribution for transplantation.
- 2) To train required manpower.
- 3) To protect vulnerable poor from organ trafficking.

Highlights of the programme (One and half page write up):

Organ donation is organized by health & hygiene cell of College in collaboration with Aurangabad municipal corporation on 13th of August 2022 at 11:30AM about 380 beneficiaries including students ,staff and other peoples nearby the college.

Relevance and outcome :

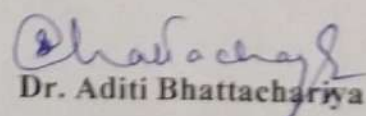

- 1) One donor alone can save or drastically improve the lives of eight or more people, and donations don't always have to occur postmortem
- 2) Living donation serves as a viable option, especially in cases of kidney and liver transplantation, and saves the life of both the recipient and the next person on the waiting list
- 3) National Donate Life Month helps tie all the facts and benefits of organ donation together, and serves as an important stepping stone to solving the issue of donor shortages.
- 4) Organ donors are rightfully considered as lifesavers. Around the globe, the number of people waiting to receive organs is about 118,000 and start living a normal life.

Report of activity for submission to IQAC

Name of the Event/ Activity: - " Medical Health Camp on 'Tech-Neck Syndrome' "

Date: - 28/01/2023 Time: - 11:00 am

Place: Maulana Azad College Aurangabad

Number of beneficiaries: -

Program Highlights:

Health Talk by Dr. Adil: Dr. Adil, a renowned medical expert, delivered an informative talk on tech-neck syndrome. He discussed the causes, symptoms, and potential health implications of prolonged use of electronic devices, particularly smartphones and computers, on neck and spine health.

Screening and Consultation: Following the health talk, attendees had the opportunity to undergo screening for tech-neck syndrome and receive personalized consultations from medical professionals. They were provided with guidance on proper posture, ergonomic practices, and exercises to mitigate the effects of prolonged screen time.

Interactive Q&A Session: An interactive question-and-answer session allowed participants to seek clarification on tech-neck syndrome and related health issues. Dr. Adil addressed queries from attendees, providing practical tips and recommendations for maintaining neck and spine health in the digital age.

Awareness Campaign: An awareness campaign was conducted to educate attendees about the importance of maintaining good posture and limiting screen time to prevent tech-neck syndrome. Informational pamphlets and posters were distributed, highlighting preventive measures and resources for seeking further assistance.

The objective of the Programme:

The primary objective of the medical health camp on tech-neck syndrome organized by the Department of Zoology at Maulana Azad College was to raise awareness about the adverse health effects of excessive screen time and poor posture associated with the use of electronic devices. By providing education, screening, and consultation services, the programme aimed to empower participants to adopt healthier habits and prevent or alleviate tech-neck syndrome.

The outcome of the Programme:

Increased Awareness: Attendees gained a better understanding of tech-neck syndrome and the importance of maintaining good posture and reducing screen time to mitigate its effects on neck and spine health.

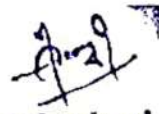

Early Detection and Intervention: The screening and consultation services provided an opportunity for early detection of tech-neck syndrome and personalized guidance for preventive measures and treatment options, enhancing participants' overall well-being.

Empowerment: Participants were empowered with knowledge and practical strategies to prioritize their neck and spine health in the digital age, enabling them to make informed decisions and take proactive steps to prevent tech-neck syndrome.

Community Engagement: The health camp fostered community engagement and collaboration in promoting health and wellness, reinforcing the importance of interdisciplinary approaches to addressing contemporary health challenges.
