The inauguration programme of study centre of CCSI affiliated with YCMOU and the two certificate courses was conducted on 11th February 2021 in the seminar hall of the college. The inauguration was done at the hands of Professor Waykar Bhalchandra, Dean, Faculty of Science, Dr. B. A. Marathwada University, Aurangabad. The function was chaired by Principal Dr.Mazahar Ahmad Farooqui.

Speaking at the inaugural, Prof. Waykar elaborated on the increasing scope for Bee-Keeping as well as the establishment of Farmer Producer Companies. He emphasized on the need for skill development within the students. He also said that there are innumerable employment opportunities for students in both these fields. He stressed on the skill that shall be imparted through these courses and that this shall enrich the agricultural growth and health of agri-prone area of Marathwada.

Principal Dr.Mazahar Ahmad Farooqui briefed the audience about the advantages of Farmer Producer Companies in enhancing agricultural profitability. He highlighted the nature and discipline adopted by honey-bees and also their role in pandemic. He further marked that by inculcating the skill of honey-bee keeping the students and farmers in nearby areas shall be equipped for additional earnings. He also emphasized on the need for having an organized structure for agricultural growth and that FPCs are going to be the future of agricultural development in India. He also appreciated the YCMOU for taking this unique initiative of commencing skill oriented certificate courses in the interest of farmers and students.

The Programme coordinator for Farmer Producer Company Management course, Dr. Aparna Saraf briefed the audience about the objectives, scope and structure of the Certificate courses commencing in the college. She also congratulated the enrolled students for making the wise decision of inculcating add-on skills which will lead to good employment opportunities in future. Dr. Zulfikar Shaikh, the coordinator for Bee-Keeping course introduced the guests and delivered Vote of Thanks. Dr. Aparna Saraf conducted the proceedings of the programme.

The Boards prepared for the certificate courses were also inaugurated at the hands of the dignitaries. The programme was graced by Dr. M. A. Bari, Vice Principal, Dr. Aditi Bhattacharya, IQAC Coordinator and faculty, staff and students.

Later, the Chief Guest and dignitaries also visited the Study centre and discussed on future opportunities.
